*Blessed are you AUTUMN,
Season of the heart's yearning.
You usher us into places of mystery
And, like the leaves, we fall trustingly
Into eternal, unseen hands..*

Dr. Deborah's Thoughts

Dear Failure

Thank you First for showing up in my life. I had so much to learn from you and you showed up in God's perfect timing. What I learned from you was never to be anxious for anything. I learned to get out of the driver's seat and allow the Lord to direct my path. To listen to the holy spirit because He has something so great for me to share with the world.

Second, I thank you for allowing me the opportunity to step out on faith and although I had never taken that step before, you gave me the courage to find property and actually build a school from the ground up. I thank you for the many relationships that I developed through the entire process. And for developing my marketing skills and the art of negotiating my own deal.

Third, Thank you for showing me that I have deep roots that are planted in such a way that I may sway or even get blown around, but I don't break. You helped me learn how to persevere in spite of challenges. You gave me a great gift by allowing me to experience how mentally and emotionally strong I really am.

I offer gratitude to the children and parents who I am blessed to have met through you. Although they were the sacrifice, they were also a part of the great new journey that I would not have even desired if it were not for them. I appreciate the opportunity to be living in a time such as this. To have the privilege to use my heart to love and to use my mind and hands to VOTE like my life depends on itbecause it does.

So failure, I honor you for doing your job and teaching me something that I would have never learned had it not been for you. You were given to me as a gift to show me that what is on the inside of me is greater than anything you could do to me. The failures in my life were never about me but about getting me to a place where I would surrender to the will of God and walk into my divine destiny.

*Until next time,
Be Blessed,
~Dr. Deborah Tillman*
